

Tired of comparing RFQ's by hand?

Manage RFQ proposals easier with AgreeDeal, making less mistakes, getting faster insights and wasting no time in between excel sheets.

About AgreeDeal

AgreeDeal is developed for procurement specialists and with their needs in mind. We had many conversations about procurement process and ways to improve it. What we've realized was that while there are plenty "can do it all" solutions, they are often too complex for small and medium businesses, who have very concrete challenges.

One of such challenges – comparing RFQ's, so we've decided to focus on it and develop a tool that would be close to the user (procurement specialist), while also giving substantial benefits to their businesses.

Focus on what matters

Create requests involving multiple products with their technical specifications, quantities and requirements for quotes. Specification forms can be reused later.

Suppliers can easily fill the RFQ form by adding additional information or quotes variations without messing up the form itself

Conveniently analyse all offers in one screen, already processed. Less manual work means more accuracy and processing multiple supplier offers much faster.
